To help clueless cupids with raging hormones this Valentine’s Day, jewelry retail destination ice.com commissioned a survey to find out what type of gift will most likely get a woman into bed. Not surprisingly, the results from the more than 400 female responses were led by jewelry, followed by flowers and the ultimate aphrodisiac, chocolate. To further assist men in loving their ladies long time, we’ve gathered options for all types of guys, from the traditional to the creative to the daring. Get your arrows (and wallets) out, guys.
